STAR WITNESS FOR LORIMER

Hines, of "Slush Fund" Fame, Testifies.

LUMBER DEALER TELLS STORY OF HIS LIFE

His Answers Are Guarded as to Lorimer.

Declares He Supports Illinois Senator Because He Is Protectionist Republican and Staunch Supporter of Deep Waterways from Chicago to Gulf Project—Tells How He First Meets Lorimer.

Washington, June 29.—The story was told to the Lorimer senate investigation committee, today, of how Edward Hines, alleged "maker of senators," and lumber lobbyist, worked with Senators Penrose, Aldrich and President Taft to achieve the election of William Lorimer, "Chicago's Republican Boss" to the United States senate.

"About May 20, 1909, Mr. Aldrich sent for me," said Hines. "He said the indications were that no senator would be elected in Illinois and that Mr Lorimer might solve the problem.

"Soon thereafter I met Mr. Aldrich in his office. He said: 'I would like to have you come up to the White House and tell the president the Springfield situation.' He telephoned to the White House at 10:30 p. m. asking if the president would see him. He asked me to go with him. I objected, as my presence might embarrass the president.

Fateful Message.

"'All right,' said Mr. Aldrich, 'you go to my house and wait for me.'

"At midnight, Mr. Aldrich came from the White House and said the president had suggested that Mr. Lorimer be a candidate. He suggested I telephone to Mr. Lorimer. I telephoned that I just talked with Mr. Aldrich, who had visited the president, and both were anxious that be be a candidate. Mr. Lorimer was surprised at the name of the president. Lorimer asked that Aldrich send a telegram confirming what I said, that he could show to Governor Deneen and the others. I said I was authorized to send it. 'Well, send it,' said Lorimer. I sent the message. That was the day before Lorimer was elected."

Hines filed with the committee the receipt for the fateful telephone message that led to Lorimer's election. It covered five minutes and the bill was $8.75. It was sent at 12:10 a. m. May 25, 1909, the day before Lorimer's election.

Attorney's Guide Answers.

Washington, June 29.—Alleged "maker of senators", and solicitor of the far-famed "slush fund," Edward Hines, millionaire lumber dealer, of Chicago, took the stand, today, as the star witness for the defense of Senator William Lorimer, in his fight to retain his seat before the senate investigating committee.

Guided by his attornew, Hines told how he left school at fourteen to take a job at $10 a month and worked until 1892, when he formed the Edward Hines Lumber company. He described his wide business interests and said his firm had open accounts in twenty-five banks in all parts of the country. He is forty-seven years old.

"I was a resident of Mr. Lorimer's district for eight or nine years. I have known him for nineteen years," said Hines.

In answer to a question he denied that he drank to excess.

Hines said he had no close relations with Lorimer until five years ago. Then he called upon Lorimer, who was a member of the rivers and harbors committee of the house for aid in the improvement of a harbor in the south.

Meets Lorimer.

In 1906 Hines loaned some of his wagons, decorated, for use in the parade in Lorimer's honor. He said he supported Lorimer for congress in 1906 and 1908, because Lorimer was a "protectionist Republican and a staunch supporter of the deep waterways project from Chicago to the gulf."

"What attracted your attention to the senatorial election in 1909?"

"February 1, 1909, I sent to Mr. Lorimer in Washington a telegram recommending A. C. Bartlett, of Chicago, as a candidate for senator," said Hines. He also read a letter to Lorimer, urging support of Bartlett.

"Early in April, I saw Mr. Lorimer in Washington, and he said the factions could not unite upon Bartlett," continued Hines. "I did not visit Springfield while the legislature was elected Lorimer was in session."

"Did you talk to anybody else about it?"

"In April, Senator Penrose sent for me and asked if I knew whether the Illinois legislature would adjourn without electing a senator. I said I would try to find out. Congressmen Boutell and Mann, of Chicago, said they were not familiar with the situation, but that Lorimer could probably tell me.

"Mr. Lorimer said the situation was indefinite; that there were several factions and that he was going to Springfield where he might learn the prospects."

FIVE INDICTMENTS AGAINST DONNELLY

Are Nolled Upon Recommendation of Prosecutor Webster.

Toledo, June 29.—Five indictments against Circuit Judge Michael Donnelly, of Napoleon, for embezzlement and perjury in connection with the Ohio German Fire Insurance company, of which Donnelly was president, were nolled by Judge Chittenden in common pleas court, Tuesday, upon recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Webster.

All of the indictments nolled were old ones returned in 1909 and the offenses charged in them are covered by other indictments returned in March, this year. This action was taken to remove duplication of indictments from the docket.

The new embezzlement indictments were drawn to include the alleged embezzlement of checks and other negotiable paper as well as the money, which alone was mentioned in the earlier indictments. This was done to avoid the consequences of Judge Johnson's ruling in the Metzger case that a draft is not money.

In the trial of Judge Donnelly here several weeks ago, Prosecutor Webster chose to go to trial on one of the indictments returned last March, although there was an older indictment for the same alleged offense.

After the old indictments were nolled, Judge Donnelly's motions to stay further proceedings under the indictments of last March were withdrawn. These motions were based on the fact that the old indictments were in force.

TELLS HOW HE DODGES SHOTS

Bernesel Gurski Relates Story in Elyria Jail.

OVER 100 BULLETS ARE FIRED AT HIM

Murderer Says Ducking Shots Is No Fun.

Man Who Successfully Dodges Bullets of Several Posses During an Eight Days' Man-Hunt in Woods and Quarries Near South Amherst, Surrenders Himself to Officers To Save Himself.

Elyria, O., June 29.—How Bernesel Gurski successfully dodged 100 bullets fired at him during an eight days' man-hunt in the woods and quarries near South Amherst, he himself related, today, in jail, where he surrendered himself to save his life.

Gurski has been formally charged with having stabbed and killed Amiel Kolander, the landlord of a youth to whom he sold his fiancee on their wedding eve for the price of the prenuptial entertainment. Gurski, it is alleged, afterward regretted his bargain, went to have it out with his rival, and had a quarrel with Kolander.

"Ducking bullets is no fun," said Gurski, today, very solemnly. His face was scratched and his cheeks hollow, he was nerve-shaken and nearly starved, his clothing was badly torn. "It seemed to rain bullets near me some times."

The posses had orders to kill and some of the deputy sheriffs were armed with shotguns loaded with buckshot.

"I believe that the only reason that I escaped being killed was because of the natural fear a man feels for killing a fellow man," said Gurski. "Some times I threw myself on the ground while the bullets zipped through the bushes over me. Once a man began shooting at me while he was only a few feet away, but he shut his eyes."

Captain's Trial Begins.

DIEGLE DEFENSE RESTS ITS CASE

State Then Introduces Rebuttal Testimony.

ANDREWS CALLS THE DICTAPHONE A "LIAR"

Says He Never Accepted Dishonest Dollar.

Lawrence County Senator Makes Heated Denials of Statements Credited to Him by Detective Harrison Smiley and the Little Machine Hidden Under Couch in Room, No. 317.

Columbus, O., June 29.—The defense in the Diegle case unexpectedly rested its case, this morning, and the state began the introduction of rebuttal testimony. When court opened, Senator Andrews was recalled to the stand and asked a few questions by the state to definitely fix dates and places. Then attorney Mattern announced that the defense rested its case with the provision that it was yet to introduce into the evidence the Chicago court record in the Marie Diefenbach case, if they secure from Chicago a statement that it is a complete record.

The state offered but two rebuttal witnesses—Stenographer R. R. Walcutt and Joseph Weber, clerk at the Chittenden hotel with whom Senator Andrews left the note for Smiley. Walcutt testified that he had heard a woman talking in room No. 317, while Smiley and Andrews were in there. Weber couldn't be located and court adjourned until 1:30 when he will testify. Following Weber's testimony, Judge Kinkead will read several special charges to the jury at the request of the defense. Attorney General Hogan will then make the opening argument to the jury for the state, to be followed by Attorney John E. Egan, for the defense. The case will probably reach the jury about noon tomorrow.

Calls Machine Liar.

Columbus, O., June 29.—With the testimony of ten character witnesses for the defense in, and Senator Andrews' strong denial that Diegle had been implicated with him in any way in any bribery transactions, the defense is about ready to rest its case in the trial of Rodney J Diegle, senate sergeant-at-arms, on a charge of aiding Senator L. R. Andrews to secure a $200 bribe from Detective Frank Harrison Smiley.

Senator Andrews became heated in his denial of statements credited to him by the dictaphone and Smiley. When asked, late Wednesday, if he had accepted $200 from Smiley, he rose in the witness stand and shouted:

"That is a malicious lie; I'll let no man say I ever accepted a dishonest dollar."

The defense put Andrews on the stand in an attempt to disprove the charge in the indictment that Diegle had "aided and abetted Andrews by arranging meetings and carrying messages between Andrews and Smiley." The Lawrence county senator denied unequivocally that Diegle had ever mentioned any bill to him or asked him to go to the Chittenden hotel to meet Smiley.

Andrews then proceeded to tell in his own way the story of the transactions which took place April 28, when it is charged he took a bribe from Smiley in room, No. 317, of the Chittenden hotel.

The Hotel Affair.

"About 3 o'clock, April 28, I went down to the Chittenden hotel," said Andrews. "Smiley was not in his room and he didn't answer when paged. Senator Crawford accompanied me down there. I waited perhaps half an hour and then seeing I would have to hurry to catch my train, I wrote a note to Smiley, telling him I would see him Monday. I had just deposited this with the clerk, when Smiley came up and introduced himself. He asked me to go to his room. I demurred at first, but consented when he said it would only take a moment.

"While we were in the elevator and walking down the corridor to his room, Smiley mentioned the insurance bill and remarked he would like to get it out of the committee. Then seeing I would miss the train, if I didn't hurry, I left."

On cross-examination, Prosecutor Turner read from Stenographer Walcutt's dictaphone notes statements credited to Andrews. Most of these were denied, and when admitted, Andrews said they were made in the corridor and not in room, No. 317. He denied accepting or soliciting a bribe from Smiley or any one else.

TROOPS LINE THE STREETS OF LONDON

Ruler and Family Ride in an Open Carriage.

Everything Is Done To Add Enthusiasm to Affair, but Public Interest Seems on the Wane and Crowd Witnessing Procession Is of Very Meager Proportions—Lord Mayor Gives a Toast.

London, June 29.—King George and Queen Mary were "on exhibition" again, today, in another "royal progress" to St. Paul's cathedral and thence to Guild hall and return. Everything was done to add enthusiasm to the affair, but public interest in the doings of their majesties had evidently reached the lowest ebb and the crowd that witnessed the procession was of meager proportions.

Troops lined the streets, two paces apart, in order to give the spectators an uninterrupted view, but the spectators were not numerous enough for it to matter how the troops spaced.

The king and queen, accompanied by the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, rode in an open carriage from the palace to the cathedral, arriving at noon. A short thanksgiving service was held, after which the royal party was driven to Guild hall for luncheon with the lord mayor, Sir T. Vesey Strong. They returned to Buckingham palace at 4:20 over a devious route through north and central London.

At the luncheon the lord mayor proposed toasts to "the king," and "the queen and royal family," but according to custom, there were no speeches. George responded by proposing "the lord mayor and the corporation."

STATE ATTACKS CHARMER SEE

The "God of Passion" Downcast Today.

JUDGE'S RULING HITS REVEALER HARD BLOW

Confessions of "High Priestesses" Introduced.

With Brutal Frankness, Police Captain Outlines Confessions Declared To Have Been Made in Boastful Spirit by See, Who Exhibits No Shame in Statements, Saying He Can Do No Wrong.

Chicago, June 29.—Evelyn Arthur See, the "Prince Charmer" of the "Absolute Life," today faced the guns of the state, apparently broken in spirit. The "God of Passion" seemed utterly downcast by yesterday's ruling of Judge Honore that the confessions made by See, Mona Rees and Mildred Bridges on the night of their arrest might be introduced in evidence.

With brutal frankness, Police Captain Danner and several reporters outlined the confessions, which they declared were made in a boastful spirit by See and his high priestesses, who exhibited no shame in their statements, declaring those in "Absolute Life" could do no wrong.

Today, See faced another scathing. The state has charged openly that See wrote the book, "Absolute Life on Trial," to coach defense witnesses. To back this up, the state planned, today, to introduce several letters written by See to Mrs. Stephen H. Bridges, while he was in jail, instructing her as to her testimony and telling what her daughter was to say on the stand. The letters Mrs. Bridges tore into bits and threw into a drain pipe. In revenge for stopping up the drain pipe, the janitor who found them turned them over to the state's attorney.

The state will claim that See's constant coaching of witnesses is proof of his guilt. If he is acquitted on he charge of contributing to the delinquency of Mildred Bridges, there is an intimation that the state will proceed against him for subornation of perjury.

Other big land owners are Prince Pless, 125,000 acres; Duke of Ujest, 100,000 acres; Duke of Ratibor, 82,000 acres; king of Saxony, 75,000 acres.

ROBBERS LOOT EXPRESS TRAIN

Hold-Up Occurs in Oregon Last Night.

AMOUNT OF BOOTY STOLEN UNKNOWN

Dozen Armed Posses Are Now After Bandits.

Masked Men Force Engineer and Firemen To Detach Engine, Express and Mail Cars from Rest of Train and Run Them into Cow Creek Canyon, Near Glendale, Where Cars Are Looted.

Portland, Ore., June 29.—Despite statements of officials that only a small amount of treasure was on the Southern Pacific train which was held up and robbed in Cow Creek canon near Glendale, last night, the general belief here today is that the amount of booty taken was large.

Determined to capture or kill the three masked bandits who did the job, and who are believed to be the same robbers who looted the Shasta express recently near Drain, the officials of the railroad today arranged for a death hunt for the men. Several large posses, all heavily armed, left here for Glendale on special trains early today.

Meager details of the robbery were received here, today. They indicated that after the bandits had forced the engineer and firemen to run the engine, mail and express cars four miles into Cow Creek canon; they ransacked the mail and looted the express car, but failed to get into the safe. So far as known, there was no battle with the trainmen and none was hurt.

Passengers Frightened.

Eugene, Ore., June 29.—A dozen well-armed posses are searching for the bandits, who, late last night, held up the Oregon express on the Southern Pacific at West Fork, in Cow Creek canyon, and threw 200 eastern delegates to the International Sunday-School convention, which closed yesterday in San Francisco, into a panic. The passengers, however, were not molested, and the railroad officials say the robbers did not get much booty.

According to the meager reports available, the bandits looted the registered mail pouches, but the express messenger kept them from entering the steel express car in which were many thousand dollars in gold from the San Francisco mint.

Bandits Appear.

The three masked men appeared on the train at West Fork. They held up the engineer and firemen with revolvers, forcing them to detach the engine, express and mail cars from the rest of the train and run them up the canyon. The main body of the train, with the Sunday-school delegates, was left stranded.

Four miles up the canyon, the robbers looted the mail car, getting, it is said, many valuable letters. Reports are that Express Messenger Robb prevented the bandits from entering his car, but this can not be confirmed.

Officials of the railroad stated, today, that there was only a small amount of treasure on the train, and that the robbers evidently attacked the wrong train. It is believed they intended to rob the southbound train which carried $400,000 worth of Alaskan gold.

OFFICER AND YEGGS IN REVOLVER DUEL

Standard Oil Company Is Saved Several Thousand Dollars.

Chicago, June 29.—A revolver duel, early today, between a policeman and three yeggmen saved the Standard Oil company several thousand dollars. Patrolman Fishworth came upon the men engaged in blowing the safe in the company's local office. He approached and was halted by several shots fired by the "look-out." Fishworth returned the fire and all the yeggs opened on him, running as they fired. None of the bullets took effect.

ENGLAND FACES SERIOUS CRISIS

The Necessities of Life Rapidly Soar.

AS RESULT OF THE SEAMEN'S STRIKE

Tie-Up Throughout British Empire Complete.

Factories in Many Cities Are Compelled To Close Because of Lack of Raw Material—Serious Menace to Navigation Is Feared and the Police Are Kept Busy in Different Parts of Country by Rioting.

London, June 29.—The first break in the strike of the seamen and allied trades came at Glasgow, today, when the Anchor and Allen lines gave in to the unions. Agreements were immediately signed and crews and dock hands supplied in sufficient numbers so that Saturday's sailings will take place on schedule.

The Cunard and Canadian Pacific company officials did not hesitate long after the Anchor-Allen lines weakened and they also signed the agreement recognizing the unions and granting the demanded wage increases.

Premier Asquith is endeavoring to settle the strike through the local boards of trade. Enormous quantities of badly-loaded provision imports from the United States and Canada are in the cargo holds of the steamers now in dock at Liverpool, Southampton and other coast ports.

Unless these can be released soon the effect will be serious as the United Kingdom has only a month's supply of foodstuffs.

The union officials have issued a statement blaming the White Star line officials for most of the new trouble, and say that their men will not return to work unless every demand is granted.

A Complete Tie-up.

London, June 29.—With the prices of necessities of life already advanced twenty-five per cent, as the result of the strike of the seamen, dock laborers and associated trades at nearly every port in the United Kingdom; rioting reported from a dozen cities, and coastwise and foreign traffic, with the exception of the channel steamers, absolutely paralyzed, England is today facing the most serious crisis in recent years.

Advices received at the headquarters of the Seamen's union here show that the tie-up is complete.

At Liverpool, today, the Zeeland of the Red Star line, after hours of delay, managed to get her passengers ashore by tenders, but the steamer herself is in midstream unable to secure tugs to shove her to her dock.

Serious Menace.

To the trouble ashore is added a serious menace to navigation. The big lightships in the month of the Mersey are deserted today, their crews having joined the strikers. Unless the craft are at their anchorages with their lights set by nightfall, incoming steamers will be in danger of piling up on the rocks.

Factories in a dozen cities shut down, this morning, because of a lack of raw materials.

If the strike is not settled by Saturday a score of ocean liners, whose passenger lists are complete with tourists, will be held here.

The concessions made by the Shipping federation which included meager increases in wages and slightly improved working conditions, but refuse to recognize the union, have been rejected by the unions.

Officials May Act.

Liverpool, June 29.—Every bit of shipping in the local harbor with the exception of half a dozen mail tenders, is tied up today. The situation is so serious that the efforts of the board of trade to settle the strike are being aided by a volunteer committee of city officials and by the city authorities. They strikers declare that, under no circumstances, will they go back to work until their union is recognized and more substantial concessions are made.

If strike-breakers are imported, it will be necessary to call out the militia to preserve order.

All of the stewards on the various liners joined the strike this afternoon. Because of the continued rioting all of the reserve police have been detailed to duty on the docks.

Shipowners Defiant.

Hull, England, June 29.—With the harbor filled with all classes of freight steamers, many with perishable cargoes, and business at a standstill because of the dock workers' and seamen's combined strike, the board of trade today began an energetic effort to settle the trouble. The shipowners are defiant and insist they can operate if their strike-breakers are given protection. There

WOMAN REVEALS EARLY MARRIAGE

But Leaves Out Part Regarding Smuggling.

Dashing New Yorker Who Brings Three Wealthy Men into Limelight by Her Confession of Smuggling Jewels Valued at Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars, Says She Is Married at Fourteen.

New York, June 28.—In this morning's issue the New York American prints an eight-column autobiography by Helen Dwelle Jenkins, the dashing woman whose jewels and the tale of their being smuggled into this country have brought notoriety to Nathan Allen of Kenosha, Wis., John R. Collins of Nashville, herself and others. She frankly admits her relations with Allen, but says he was the only one.

In introducing herself to the American newspaper reading public, she says:

"My only marriage was an elopement. I was traveling in the north with my mother in October, 1901. I was then 14 years old and in short dresses. At Detroit I met Lee Allen Dwelle; he was 26, handsome, athletic and a graduate of West Point. He looked every inch the soldier. His father was the owner of a big line of steamers that plied between Sandusky and Detroit. Ten days after I met him we slipped away from my mother in Detroit, crossed the river into Canada and were married. He had resigned from the army and was learning to manage his father's great business. We lived with his mother in the family's fine mansions both in Sandusky and Detroit.

"His mother was of the old school. She was proud and rich. I was a child and brought no money to the family. She didn't like me. child that I was. After an unhappy life with his family for several months we went away from them to live alone in Chicago.

"There at the end of our first year of married life, my dreams of happiness were completely shattered. I divorced him for cause. I hope he is doing well and is happy. I am not."

THE UNKISSED BRIDE'S STORY

The "Barrel Hoop" Hug and "Split" Kiss Are Latest.

GAMBIER TRIAL IS INTERESTING AFFAIR

Gotham Court-Room Throngs with Curious.

Millionaire Manufacturer Is Called To Testify as to Why Gambler's Wife Shows More Affection for Him Than for Her Husband. Caresses Are Lacking to Hubby, Claims His Lawyer.

New York, June 28.—Justice Pendleton's court was jammed, today, when the trial of the Gambier versus Gambier separation and annulment cross suits was resumed, the attraction being Harvey S. Sickler, millionaire manufacturer and associate of J. P. Morgan in the fertilizer trust. It was expected that Sickler, who has been continually referred to by Edward V. Gambier as the man whom his wife kissed freely, although she refused caresses to him, would be questioned regarding automobile trips, theater parties and dinners at fashionable hotels, which it is alleged he attended accompanied by Mrs Gambier.

Sickler is under subpoena from both sides to explain his relations with the "unkissed bride" who has added to the current vocabulary of Broadway such gems as the "Split" kiss and the "Barrel Hoop" hug.

Gambier was again on the stand when the trial was resumed today.

Attorney VanWyck, for Mrs Gambier, was especially insistent in developing the fact that, although they occupied the same apartments in steamships and hotels, Gambier made little effort to cultivate his wife's affection.

Gambier admitted when he finally told his wife he was tired of her indifference, she declared that he and not she was responsible for the failure to consummate their marriage, said VanWyck.

Charles E. Symes, who was employed by Gambier to spy on his wife's movements, told of following her on various automobile drives with "Mr. Blank." He produced his notes, which were filled with a detailed account of Mrs Gambier's movements. At the bottom of each page were the letters "N G" or "N. G.," and when asked to explain them, the witness said he thought they meant either no good or nothing doing.

Seth D. Robinson, attorney for the Merchants' bank, said that when Gambier told him of his troubles with his wife, he had advised the bank official to sue for an annulment. He told of seeing Mrs Gambier and "Mr. Blank" leave a house in West Sixty-Eighth street on an afternoon last October.

"Mr. Blank seemed very affectionate," Robinson said.

H. H. KOHLSAAT.

Herman H. Kohlsaat, editor and publisher of the Chicago Record-Herald, testifying before seven United States Senators who are investigating the election of Senator Lorimer, declared he did not aspire to a seat in the Senate, saying:—"If every man, woman and child in the State of Illinois were to come to me and offer me a seat in the Senate I would not take it."

ANTOINETTE AND VINCENTO HELD

Aged Italian Woman Found Burned to Death.

Chicago, June 28 — Vincento Nardi, thirty-five, and Antonette Cottriello, thirty-five, are being held, today, while the police investigate the mysterious death of Mrs. Isabella Nardi, sixty, wife of Nardi.

The aged woman had been living alone since her youthful husband deserted her for the Cottriello woman. Yesterday she was found burned to death in her home, presumably by accident.

Last night, Nardi tried to collect an insurance policy of $1,000 which the woman carried on her life, in his favor, in a fraternal order.

Investigation revealed that the woman had undoubtedly been killed and the house set on fire. The police learned that she was preparing to change the policy so the money would go to her children in Italy, and they suspect Nardi killed her for the money.

TREASURY HAS BIG SURPLUS

Uncle Sam's Strong-Box Is in Fine Shape.

THIS YEAR'S SHOWING BEST SINCE YEAR 1907

Year Will Close with Surplus of $25,000,000.

Years 1908 and 1909 Show Deficits of $20,000,000 and $58,000,000 Respectively—Work on Canal This Year Will Cost $10,000,000, but This Will Be Replaced from the Sale of Bonds.

Washington, June 28.—The United States treasury will have a surplus of approximately $25,000,000 when the fiscal year of 1911 ends Saturday. The fiscal year of 1910 closed with a surplus of $15,000,000. This year's showing will be the best since 1907, when a surplus of $111,000,000 was shown. Both 1908 and 1909 showed deficits of $20,000,000 and $58,000,000 respectively.

Treasury officials believe final figures will show the government, during the year just closing, has received more than it estimated and spent just a little less than it planned.

Total receipts from all sources are expected to total approximately $687,000,000. They were estimated at $678,000,000. The total expenditures, not including the Panama canal, will be about $660,000,000. The treasury expected to spend $662,000,000.

The year's work on the canal will cost approximately $10,000,000. All of this was advanced out of the government's ready cash and will be replaced from the proceeds of the $50,000,000 bond sale, which will begin to flow into the treasury about July 15.

Corporation tax receipts, which were being depended upon to contribute largely to a surplus, probably, will not be received as promptly as was expected.

Treasury officials expect that fully $15,000,000, or half the estimated receipts from the tax, will not be forthcoming until July 10.

They are appointed for a term of three years and receive $1,800 a year. There are six Republicans and six Democratic inspectors.

THE OLD GOSPEL HYMNS TABOOED

Songs of Our Forebears Cheap and Crude.

THAT IS CONVICTION OF NOTED MUSICIANS

Opinion Is Reached in St. Louis Convention.

"Throw Out the Life Line" and "At the Cross" Are Songs That Appeal to Inebriate Instincts and Produce Physical Ecstacy Akin to Intoxicating Liquors, Declare Those in Convention.

St. Louis, June 28.—"Old gospel hymns, for which our forbears martyred their peace and occasionally sacrificed their heads, and with which they rocked themselves into a religious souse, are cheap, crude and do not tend to sobriety. They appeal to the inebriate instincts and produce a physical ecstasy akin to intoxicating liquors.

"They are indigenous to America and probably sprang from the rhythmic convulsions of the old southern darky. The tunes are the cheapest of dance music of a most primitive character. They are the most baneful influence against the progress of American music."

This is the conviction of representative musicians attending the Missouri State Musicians' convention. The hymns mentioned as typical of this class of so-called sheet church music were 'At the Cross, At the Cross.' 'Throw Out the Life Line,' 'Oh, Happy Day!' and 'I Want To Be An Angel.'

James T. Quarles, organist at the aristocratic Lindell Avenue M. E. church, where the convention is being held, said none of these hymns were used in his church. He declared they are being thrown out of all the large churches and are heard now only at the missions. He said practically every Protestant city church has revised or is revising its hymn books.

Ernest R. Kroeger, another noted St. Louis musician, said:

"'Canned' music, or the music of mechanical kind, is the greatest agency for popularizing good music in America. Sentimental songs, like 'Annie Rooney,' are the ones wanted."

Brakeman Is Injured.

Otto Clark, an Erie yard brakeman, was the victim of an accident while on duty this morning in the local yards about 1 o'clock. Clark was riding on a cut of cars with his foot upon the step when the car on which he was riding and another came together suddenly and caused him to fall. He was removed to the Marion City hospital and was given attention by Drs. A. and H. S. Rhu. His right leg was badly injured, and he was otherwise considerably bruised.

Mr. McClain Is a Resident of Marion a Number of Years and Has Many Friends Throughout the City—Is Survived by a Widow and Children.

Sketch of Career.

Walker Washington McClain, aged seventy-six years, died of uraemic poisoning, superinduced by paralysis, Saturday afternoon at his home on South Seffner avenue. He had suffered several strokes of paralysis in the past three years.

Mr. McClain was born at East Liberty. He was a civil war veteran. Twelve years ago he moved to Marion, where he had lived a retired life

Mr. McClain was highly respected by all those who knew him, and his death will be learned with profound regret.

The deceased is survived by a widow and the following children:

CLARIDON TOWNSHIP CLASS IS GRADUATED

Patterson Commencement Is Held at Caledonia.

THE EXERCISES ARE VERY WELL ATTENDED

The Class Speaker Gives the Graduates an Interesting Talk and Some Advice—A List of Those Who Receive Diplomas—Exercises Are Held in the Village Hall.

Caledonia, O., June 23.—[Special]—The Patterson commencement of Claridon township was held in the town hall here, Thursday evening, and was well attended. J. S. Coats was in charge. Rev. C. A. R. Edgington gave the invocation and, after music by the Orpheus quartet, of Marion, and the orchestra, Arthur Oldham gave an oration, "Jane Jones." Other orations were:

"The New Country School," by Alice Hinds; "The Last Mates," by Mae Kline; "Hope," by Harry Ulsh; "Now," by Caroline Roth, and "Billy He's the Trouble" by Irene Rinker.

Rev. G. M. Rourke, of Marion gave the class address and, in his remarks, he spoke of the necessity of a higher education and the advancement being made in the country schools. The county boys today, he said, are filling many of the big positions. The city boy attempts to show his superiority by good clothes but the country boy shows his merit by his hard mental and physical labr.

The stage was prettily decorated with flowers and plants and the class colors, pink and moss green, were conspicuous. The class motto, "Truth and Ability Must Prevail," or a banner, was suspended above the stage

EDWARD SHARPLESS IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Decree Is Granted by Judge Stough of Chicago.

MAX HIRSCH NAMED AS A CORESPONDENT

Sharpless Has Many Friends Here Who Having No Knowledge of His Remarriage Will Receive News of Divorce with Surprise—Troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless.

Edward Sharpless, a Marion man who has become celebrated in this country and abroad as a ventriloquist, was granted a decree of divorce from Blanca Sharpless, Tuesday, June 20, by Judge Stough, of the Cook county Illinois circuit court.

Judge Stough, after hearing the evidence, decided that Sharpless' wife had been too friendly with Max Hirsch, of Chicago.

Mrs. Sharpless is known on the stage as Mlle. Blanca Froelich. Her husband, who at one time peddled milk in Marion, introduced photographs of perfervid love letters and telegrams sent his wife by Hirsch.

News of Sharpless' divorce will be learned here with great surprise. Only a few of his intimate friends knew that he was even remarried. His first wife died about two years ago in California and the remains were brought to this city for interment. Less than a year later Sharpless met Mlle Froelich, a German actress, and fell madly in love with her. Shortly afterward they were married in Brooklyn.

Some time ago Sharpless brought suit for divorce in Chicago and named Max Hirsch as corespondent.

Last summer, Mr. Sharpless and the beautiful Mlle. Froelich were in Toledo and the famous ventriloquist introduced her to a number of Marion friends as his wife

A girl is anxious to make a name for herself by marriage.

Congressman and Socialist Victor Berger, in his recent anarchistic speech spoke of the "capitalistic class in America" as though that were a hard and unchanging element of our citizenship. And yet Victor knows from his own experience that in this country the laborer of today is the capitalist of tomorrow and that it is here generally not more than three generations at most from "shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves." Victor is himself what he considered a capitalist in his immigrant days

President Taft has made his position very plain. He will not approve the reciprocity bill if it is amended before passage and he will not approve any tariff bills passed at this session. Now it seems that congress could vote the reciprocity bill up or down in short order and adjourn, giving itself a rest and the country a chance to take care of the harvest and the fall trade. With the president's ultimatum any other proceeding is for political capital solely and nobody will profit by it.

That's a new scheme of warfare now practiced on our southwestern border. The combined federal and insurrecto forces now chase the new rebels over the boundary line where the American constable arrests them and puts them in the calaboose.

There was a great deal of pomp and useless revival of historic ceremony about the coronation which we need not imitate in our inaugural customs, but the idea of having the affair in June instead of early March is one which will commend itself to everybody except the undertaker.

President Taft's stand in the reciprocity campaign might be taken to indicate that he had read General Grant's famous utterance on fighting it out on "this line if it takes all summer."

Governor Aldrich, of Nebraska, has been doing a great deal of loose talking on his trip to his boyhood home in Ohio. The governor, who came back to show his old neighbors that they were wrong in their predictions as to his future, has convinced them, but they are still wondering how it could have happened.

Thieves Fire Shots.

John Miller, a fireman on the C. engine of the Hocking Valley had an exciting experience with some chicken thieves when he left his engine to get some water, about 1 a. m., Saturday, in the north yards. Near the Frank Napper home on Silver street, Miller saw one of the thieves leaving a chicken pen and another standing near. As he advanced, the men turned and fired two shots in Miller's direction. When some of the neighbors were aroused the thieves, who are believed to have numbered four or five, had disappeared. One chicken which had been killed was lying near the coop.

MORE INVITING FIELD AWAITS THE RECTOR

Rev. Richard M. Brown Has Quit the City.

HE RELINQUISHES HIS LOCAL PARISH DUTIES

Ministerial Ties Are Severed at a Meeting of the Vestry of St. Paul's Episcopal Church Thursday Evening—Rev. Mr. Brown Has Moved to Elmira, New York.

Rev. Richard McClellan Brown, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Thursday, accepted a call to Elmira, New York, and preached his last sermon here, Sunday.

Thursday night, Rev. Mr. Brown's resignation was accepted at a meeting of the vestry. Before acting on his resignation, R. R. Wright was elected junior warden in the place of M. A. Turney, whom Rev. Mr. Brown claimed had been elected illegally, contending that Mr. Turney's election was not valid because the laws of the Episcopal church are that one must be a supporter of the church six months previous to his election to the office of junior warden. In making a settlement, he refused to accept payment of money, unless some one were legally elected junior warden, and this was done.

"I leave Marion for a larger field, of course," said Rev. Mr. Brown Friday. "Elmira is a place of about 50,000 people and there are many Episcopalians there. In the east there are more Episcopalians than there are in this part of the country. I have been desirous of going East for a long while. My salary will be considerably more than I received here. My departure from Marion will not be without its regrets, nevertheless, and I go into my new field of endeavor with no malice in my heart for any one. The church has been too much in the limelight for its own good, but I hope it will prosper."

Those attending the meeting in the parish-house, Thursday evening, were J. F. Dombaugh, senior warden; R. R. Wright, junior warden; and George Frank, M. H. Weaver and Aubrey E. Hess, vestrymen. O. S. Rapp, vestryman, was absent.

Rev. Mr. Brown came to this city about three years ago. During his residence here, he and his wife have made many friends.

The household goods were shipped to Elmira Friday. Mr. Brown will preach his first sermon in Elmira the first Sunday in July.

MARION WINS AT ALLIANCE MEETING

E. L. Weatherwax Is Named as a District Officer.

A Mansfield special to the Cincinnati Enquirer June 23, says:

The twentieth—annual state convention of the Ohio conference, branch of the Young People's alliance of the Evangelical association, was brought to a close here today with the reports of officers.

These showed the various alliances to be in a flourishing condition and a great increase in membership during the past year. The missionary banner for the best work of the year was awarded to the Marion alliance. The request of the Mansfield association for $1,000 for the support of the mission was granted and the amount raised by the conference.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Marion Citizens Have Discovered it.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they have cured thousands of cases of sick kidneys and cured them permanently. Follow the example of this Marion citizen.

Benjamin Copeland, farmer, 773 North Main street, Marion, O., says: "It was all of five years ago that I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, but I received so much benefit from that it is a pleasure to confirm my former statement. This remedy relieved me of a severe attack of backache and also disposed of pain and lameness in my loins."

BECOMES BEWILDERED AND IS KILLED BY CAR

Aged Eliza Jane Love Meets Death Near Richwood.

MOTORMAN ALONE IN A TRAGIC DUTY

Stops Car and Hastens to the Relief of His Unconscious Victim—Mrs. Love Dies Before She Reaches the Office of a Surgeon—Deplorable Accident on C., S. & N. Line.

Richwood, O., June 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Eliza Jane Love, aged eighty-two years, was almost instantly killed by a work car on the C., S. & N. traction line, this morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Love, who resided with her daughter, Mrs. Bruce Charles, southeast of Richwood, had started to walk to the home of John Hanawalt in town to spend the day. She was walking on the right-of-way when the car came along and George Murphy, who was in charge, saw the woman and blew the whistle. The aged woman, who was slightly deaf, became bewildered when she heard the whistle and stepped in front of the moving car which struck her and threw her to the ground. Murphy immediately stopped the car. When he reached Mrs. Love he found her unconscious, but still breathing. Murphy, who was alone on the car, summoned neighbors and telephoned for C. J. Sifer, manager of the road, who took the injured woman in his auto to the office of Dr. L. L. Robuck, but by the time the office was reached the unfortunate victim was dead. The only mark about the body was a slight wound on the head. She was also bleeding from the mouth.

The body was later removed to the undertaking establishment of Lloyd Winter where Dr. S. J. Baum held an inquest.

Mrs. Love was the widow of the late Leonard Love and had always resided about Richwood. She is survived by one child, Mrs. Bruce Charles, and a number of distant relatives, several of whom reside in this county.

In My Home is a Macey Book Cabinet

To set one of the new Macey Book Cabinets in your home is to set before your children an example of such good taste that throughout all the days of their lives they will feel its refining influence.

Macey Book Cabinets are the first sectional bookcases ever built after the designs of the old masters. These old masters, Sheraton, Chippendale, Robert Adam and Fra Junipero, were as great in Furniture as Shakespeare in Literature, as Mozart in Music, as Michael Angelo in Painting.

The new Macey Book Cabinets are the only sectional bookcases that can be added to, both upward and sideways, and still not look like sectional bookcases, but like heirlooms of furniture. Can be taken from or rearranged without destroying their beauty and style.

So artful is the cabinet work that dealers frequently have to take them apart to convince customers that they are sectional.

Macey old master designs harmonize with any furniture you now have, and are made in such variety of popular prices, sizes, woods and finishes, that they fit any requirement of space or purse.

Macey Sectional Book Cabinets are built under the direction of Mr. O. H. L. Wernicke, the father of sectional bookcases and President of The Macey Company. Mr. Wernicke's name is still used in the corporate title of a competing firm, with which he has long since had no connection.

If you wish to give your home and your children the most inspiring influence you ever gave them, you will go to a furniture store and see these new Macey Book Cabinets before you forget it.

FORTY-EIGHT YOUNG PEOPLE GET DIPLOMAS

At Patterson Commencement at High School Building.

EXERCISES ARE HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Rev. Robert C. Edgington, of the Caledonia Methodist Church, Makes the Address of the Afternoon—W. P. Moloney Acts as Chairman and Presents Diplomas.

Forty-eight young people were given diplomas entitling them to entrance into the Marion High school without examination at the annual Patterson commencement exercises held at the High school building, Saturday afternoon. The class is one of the largest graduated during the past few years.

An interesting program was rendered and was enjoyed by a good-sized audience composed of the friends and relatives of the young graduates. W. P. Moloney was chairman, and introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Robert C. Edgington, pastor of the Methodist church at Caledonia.

Preceding the address, the "Pedagogs'" quartet, composed of T. E. Bolander, Earl C. Starbuck, G. W. Hays and A. N. Carmine, sang a selection and responded to an encore.

"The Making of a Man" was the subject taken by Rev. Mr. Edgington for his address.

"I want here to explode that old theory that men are born and not made," said Mr. Edgington. "Many young lives have been wrecked because of that time-worn fallacy. Men are made and one of the things that goes toward the making of a man is grit. It makes of you what you should be. Gumption is another thing that is necessary in the make-up of a man. Every person should be able to do that which he undertakes and common gumption is one thing that makes for success."

Resourcefulness is another requisite in the making of a man, the speaker said. "If I had a theological seminary, I would make every minister take a business course," he declared. "It is necessary that men and women know something outside that on which they have specialized. We are specializing our young people today until we are ruining them.

They think that there is nothing for them to do outside the little circle in which they have specialized."

In closing, the speaker said every young person should have an ideal and work toward it. A man without an ideal is like a ship in the sea without a rudder.

The quartet sang a number of selections and repeatedly responded to encores, after which the diplomas were given out by Examiner Moloney assisted by Examiner W. P. Bell, of Caledonia.

The following young people, coming from various points over the county, were given diplomas:

Mary Oswald, Grace Thompson, H. Clayton, Moehn, Blanche Hinklin, Damon Parker, Ruth M. Artz, Marie Jones, Nellie Young, Anna R. Gratz, Alice Hinds, Irene Rinker, Edith Rice, Robert Gratz, Eva Drake, Tris Corwin, Arthur Oldham, Grace Spicer, Sperry W. Long, Edgar Neff, Callie Roth, May Kline, Clyde Sheperd, Lorin Freeman, Edward K. Randall, James Lyons, Harry Forsberg, Harry Ulsh, Eugene Rice, Ralph Rodefer, Glade Lucas, Norris D Hill, W. H Raub, Nellie Winslow, May Hinnamon, Opal Rice, Carrie R Hastings, Nina Riley, Rita Hoagland, Maude Hecker, Marguerite Kramp, Vergie Hensell, Eunice Neville, Laura Chapman, Mabel Straw, Reah D. Chapman, T Bergregrum, Gerald Oborn and Hazel Epley.

BIG HOLE IS FOUND IN THE WATER MAIN

Joints of the Great Pipe Not Pulled Apart.

CRACKS IN MAIN EACH SIDE OF HOLE

Pipe Gives Evidence of Having Been Rent by Some Powerful Object, and Water People Point Out That Dredge Spud Is Only Thing Which Could Have Done It.

A hole, eight and one-half inches long and eight inches wide, was disclosed to view in the sixteen-inch main of the Marion City Water company, located in the bottom of the new channel of the Little Scioto river, when men Monday morning pumped out sufficient water from the cofferdam to examine the damaged main. The sections of the main were not found pulled apart. The big pipe was cracked on both sides of the hole. The crack to the west is about four feet and the crack to the east of it is about a foot long. The crack to the east does not reach to the bell or joint connection.

Monday morning, J F. Prendergast, one of the officials and large stockholders of the Water company, had newspaper men, George Whysall, of the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus Railway company, and a photographer, taken to the scene of the accident in a big motor car. George B. Scofield, a stockholder, met the party at the river. The party was led over great hills of dirt and mud thrown up by the mammoth steam dredge.

In the cofferdam, a number of men, mud-plastered, were at work under the direction of Superintendent Patrick Kelly. The hole in the main, which is three-quarters of an inch thick, appeared to the casual observer to have been rent by some powerful object.

Water company officials had no hesitancy in saying that the damage was done by the dredge's middle iron-shod spud which, they claimed, kicked back against it when the great dipper was ascending with a load of earth .

Pictures were taken of the hole and of the cracked section of the main, each section being twelve feet long. A large mirror was used by the photographer to get the pictures. A part of the piece of pipe broken out was recovered and saved.

At the time the break occurred, the main was covered by fourteen feet of water and the dredge was working on the west side of it

"This temporary six-inch main is the greatest engineering feat ever pulled off in this part of the country," declared Mr. Scofield. "The temporary main is carrying now 1,200,000 gallons of water daily. It is about 700 feet long. The sole credit for this piece of engineering goes to George Whysall and W. S. Probst. They are the ones who engineered it. Men worked on it for forty-eight solid hours before it was completed."

Mr. Whysall, who was employed at one time as engineer in the laying of huge gas mains for the late Senator Calvin S. Brice, was of the opinion that the sixteen-inch main could not have been broken by the rush of water either in or outside of the pipe His opinion was that it had been struck by the dredge's spud.

F. M. Foohey, son of Timothy Foohey, of Ft. Wayne, Indiana, who has the contract for dredging the stream, denied that the dredge backed up against the main and broke it. "The spud that they talk about striking the pipe was three feet away from the pipe," he said, as he stood on the back end of his houseboat and shouted to a reporter on the west bank.

"How do you account for the big hole in the pipe then?"

"Why, that may have been caused by the surging of the water as the dredge was working in the water." Mr. Foohey replied. "The pipe must have been defective."

By reason of the fact that he is unable to work his men, Mr. Foohey placed his daily loss at over $100 He said that the water company had given his father its private bond to have the main lowered the necessary distance in the bed of the channel after the work of straightening, deepening and widening the river below the main had been done.

FOUR BUGGIES AND A BIKE IN A SMASH-UP

Lively Runaway Sunday Night on High Street.

TWO MEN ARE INJURED AS RESULT OF MISHAP

Two Youths Running a Race, So the Story Goes, with Two Other Youths and a Girl Friend, When One of the Rigs Crashes into a Third.

Four rigs and a man on a bicycle figured in a lively runaway on south High street, Sunday night about 9:30 o'clock. Two men were hurt and one buggy was wrecked.

Frank Thomas, of Cottage street, and Victor Berry, of Niles street were carried into the home of Samuel Harruff. Thomas was at first thought to be dead. He sustained a severe cut on the forehead. Berry was stepped on by one of the horses and badly bruised up. Drs. C. T. Wiant and J. B. Taylor were summoned. Four stitches were required to close the wound in Thomas' forehead.

Thomas and Berry, driving a livery rig, ran a race with Howard Wise, of east Center street, and Harry Williams, of Garden street, who, with Miss Lucile Brewer, of Bennett street, were in a surrey which was drawn by two horses. Running rapidly south on High street, one of the two racing vehicles crashed into a horse and buggy owned by Floyd Gast, of Prospect, who was calling on Miss Gertrude Click, No. 243 High street, and had tied his horse in front of the Click home. Gast's buggy was overturned and the horse broke loose, running into Click's back yard where it was caught. The buggy was badly damaged

The horse driven by Thomas and Berry became frightened and the buggy was overturned Miss Brewer and her companions were not injured

An unknown man riding a bicycle narrowly escaped being caught between the rigs and Mr. and Mrs Ray Geer, who were out driving, had a close call.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OR A BOARD OF TRADE

Is Planned by the Retail Merchants' Association.

THE MEMBERS ARE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC

Waterworks Situation Comes Up for Discussion at the Annual Meeting of the Association and Everybody Is Urged To Attend Meeting at Courthouse Thursday Night.

For a year or more the Marion Retail Merchants' association has been considering a project looking to the organization of a Marion chamber of commerce, or a board of trade. Tuesday night, at the annual meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. building, strong impetus was given the movement, when President James E. Phillips, of the association, was directed to name a committee of five to formulate plans for the organization of such a commercial body, if, after thorough investigation, the committee deems it advisable to do so. This committee will be appointed by Mr Phillips this week, and it will report some time next week.

In speaking of the proposed organization of a Marion chamber of commerce or board of trade, President Phillips, was very enthusiastic Wednesday. If it is decided to organize a chamber here, what is known as the Wheeling plan will be adopted. Mr. Phillips said:

"Providing the committee reports favorably understand, we will start by raising a fund of $50,000 to $100,000 to boost Marion by offering inducements for factories to come here. We will donate a site free if the factory be a desirable one. The money would be used to boost Marion in every way. Infant industries in Marion would be aided, and we have some very worthy infant industries here that would merit Marion's aid.

Plan To Raise Money.

"Now, in order to raise this money, realty, business, professional and manufacturing men would be waited upon and asked to subscribe, the subscription to be paid in five annual installments.

"For example, a business firm would subscribe $500, then $100 would be paid at the time of the organization of the chamber and $100 each year following until the full amount subscribed is paid. It is believed by the members of the retail Merchants' association that a very large sum for this purpose can be raised. The Wheeling plan has been adopted in Canton and Akron and it worked out very successfully in both of those cities. While it would not be wise to offer large bonuses to factories to locate in Marion, it is generally believed to be good business judgment to put up reasonable sums to assist them in moving here and to get them to going.

"The money raised would be placed in the hands of a financial committee to be composed of Marion's most substantial men, and this committee would work in conjunction with an investigating committee, the business of which would be to ascertain whether the factories knocking at our doors were worthy of consideration."

Old Marion Spirit.

The ogarnization of the chamber is regarded by Marion merchants as one of the big steps toward the return of the old Marion business spirit. Ever since the Marion Commercial club went into the hands of a receiver and was later reorganized by the formation of a purely social body known as the Marion club, enterprising merchants have felt the need of an organization to take its place. The sentiment for a directing commercial body of this kind has been growing for months and Tuesday night it crystallized to the extent that definite steps were taken toward that end.

Monday night's meeting was one of the most important ever held by the Retail Merchants' association The big feature of the meeting was the proposed organization of the chamber of commerce, of course, but much other business was transacted of public interest It was decided to hold an opening, or home-coming, week about the first week in October All the stores will be decorated for the occasion and the streets will be ablaze with myriads of lights every night for a solid week An effort will be made to secure an aeroplane to give an exhibition flight.

Homecoming Week.

The sentiment was for an opening or homecoming week that would be up to date in every particular All arrangements were left in the hands of the executive committee

It was also decided to have the annual Cedar Point excursion some time in July, no definite date being fixed. George Schweinfurth, George B. Knapp and Earl T. Smart were appointed as the excursion committee.

The waterworks situation was fully discussed, and every one present was urged to attend the mass meeting held at the courthouse, Thursday night As the president of the council, Mr Smart brought the waterworks question up before the meeting He favored the purchase of the plant or the building of a new plant and system Others who spoke favorably on the subject were John E Waddell, Henry R Snyder and J E Phillips In fact no one opposed the purchase of the building of another plant

Five years ago, when Mr Phillips was a member of the council he favored the purchase of the Marion City Water company. At that time an expert was employed. A committee, consisting of George W. King, John E Waddell and W. H. Schaffner, was appointed to appraise the water company's property. Its value was fixed at that time at $220,000

A resolution directing that all stores be closed all day on Christmas, Thanksgiving and the Fourth, and on the afternoon of Decoration day was adopted.

Early Closing.

Members of the association who have not been closing at 6 p m will be requested to do so and a committee of three was appointed to wait on them and to invite all other merchants, not members of the association, to join.

The association decided to get behind the street water carnival to be given for the benefit of the Marion Baseball association Individual members of the association expressed their willingness to give the company a guarantee of $300. The carnival will be held on Prospect street between Center and Church some time in July More than 200 people will take part in it. All of the stunts to be pulled off in water can be seen by the people as they walk through the labyrinth of glass cases. The carnival will last one week A Marion representative will be sent to Erie, Pennsylvania, to see it. Nothing obscene will be permitted.

A committee was appointed to wait upon Mayor John G Seiter with reference to peddlers and itinerant salesmen operating in the city in violation of a city ordinance

The association reelected Mr Phillips president, because he has been the chief figure in the movement for the organization of a chamber of commerce and it was the unanimous desire of the association members that he remain president for another year. Other officers elected were. W. B. Denman, George E. Frank, G. E. Jones, E. R Finley and Frank C. Hughs, vice presidents; M Hess, secretary; John E. Waddell, treasury; F W. Thacker, B. E Kleinmajer, Walter Macken, W. L. Warner, Harry Haberman and all the officers elected, executive committee

Following the election, a buffet lunch was served. McNeal's orchestra furnished music.

THE CITY OF MARION FACES A BIG DEFICIT

Property-Owners Prone To Undervalue Their Personalty.

ASSESSORS FIND IT A WATCHLESS CITY

The Pianos Are Inferior and the Automobiles Are Practically Obsolete—Only One of Them Is Worth Over $1,000—Some of Them Are Valued at Half a Hundred.

The city of Marion faces a big deficit under the one-per-cent. law, because people failed to return their personal property for taxation at a reasonable valuation.

An examination of the records in the office of the city board of review, Wednesday, developed that in one of the wealthiest precincts in the city the people who returned any household goods at all returned them at one-fifth down to one-tenth of what they had them insured. A further investigation disclosed that the merchants returned their stocks at from one-fourth to one-third of what they were valued at for insurance.

One man, who owns four houses and lots in the one precinct, and whose wife wears diamonds made affidavit that his household goods were not worth $100. A hurried examination of the assessors' books in every precinct in the city disclosed that there are practically no watches returned for taxation. What few watches are returned are returned by laboring men. According to these returns, Marion people have no jewelry.

Several merchants who returned their stock at ridiculous figures when called upon the carpet before the board of review declared that they did not know that they were returning their valuations under the one per cent. law. The result has been that stock valuations returned by the assesors is being greatly increased by the board of review. No building and loan stock was reported to the assessors

Although 150 automobile licenses were issued last April, only thirty automobiles were returned for taxation at valuations ranging from $50 to $1,000, with one at $2,000.

Out of 368 houses in one representative precinct, only 250 owners returned any household goods for taxation and 118 failed to make any returns.

Unless the personal property returns be reasonably increased by the board of review, the city will fall far behind in raising sufficient taxes to pay operating expenses

A grocer in the outskirts of the city returned his stock of goods at $1,800. This is as high and higher in some instances than some of the big grocers returned their stocks for taxation.

In the precinct where there are 368 homes, ninety-eight pianos were returned for taxation at values of $25, $50, $75 and $100. The general run of the piano valuations is $100. Only one piano in Marion is worth $250, according to the assessors' returns.

The review board expects to send out notices to people returning their pianos at $25, $50 and $75 with a view to ascertaining what kind of music boxes they own. Notices will not be sent to those who voluntarily come to the board of review rooms in the courthouse from 8 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon and consent to increasing their personal property returns.

LAYS DOWN ON BED AND TURNS ON GAS

But Edwin Hudson Leaves the Windows Open.

BLUFF AT SUICIDE SAYS THE CORONER

That Is the Opinion of Dr. W. H. Hinklin—Wife Finds Husband in an Apparently Semi-Conscious Condition and Summons Aid. Hudson Leaves City.

Edwin Hudson, a curbstone real estate agent, residing on Wilson, avenue, Tuesday, closed the doors to an upstairs bedroom at his home, pulled the bed beneath a double gas jet, turned on the gas and laid down upon the bed. He was found by his wife a short time later apparently unconscious.

Dr. S. H. Britton was called by neighbors. Dr. Britton later called Dr. W. H. Kinklin, the family physician. When Dr. Hinklin arrived at the Hudson home, the man was to all appearances in a semi-conscious condition. The fact that Hudson left the windows up in the room led Dr. Hinklin to believe that Hudson was merely bluffing at suicide to frighten his wife.

Hudson was found by his wife shortly before the dinner hour. Two hours later he called at Dr. Hinklin's office. The doctor says he gave him a hypodermic injection. A short time later Hudson boarded a train for Muncie, Indiana, where his mother, Mrs. Ella Hudson, lives.

Hudson is thirty-five years old. He has had poor health for a long time, suffering from a nervous disorder. His wife and three small children are at their home on Wilson avenue The husband and father expects to make an extended visit with his mother. He has been despondent for some time.

DROPS PACKAGE ON SHIP'S DECK

English Aviator Demonstrates Modern Delivery Methods.

WIRELESS AND AUTO FIGURE IN AFFAIR

Stunt Originates from Joke in New York City.

Employes of Wanamaker's Store Turn Tables on a Philadelphia Seedsman Who Orders Small Order by Wireless from Olympic as Big Liner Is on Way to Europe. Seedsman Gets Surprise.

New York, June 29.—Wireless telegraphy and the telephone, automobile and aeroplane constituted the scenario of a very quickly arranged demonstration of practical applications of modern science when W. Athlee Burpee, the millionaire seedsman of Philadelphia, undertook to play a little joke on his friends of John Wanamaker's store by sending them an order by wireless from the Olympic after she had sailed. Mr. Burpee had been much amused by the recent installation of a wireless apparatus on the roof of the Wanamaker's. It was explained to him that incoming transatlantic travelers could order things delivered to them at the pier. He grinned, and to some of his friends he confided that he was going to use the Wanamaker wireless plant for an order that wouldn't be delivered for a long, long time.

The Olympic had hardly swung out into the Hudson river than he flashed an order to Wanamaker's for some small articles of personal wear and use. One of the items was said to be a tooth brush and another a pair of socks, with the request for immediate delivery.

There was just one way to turn the joke back on the seedsman, which was to take it seriously. Messengers and telephone girls were hurried into action by the score.

In five minutes Wanamakers had Aviator Sopwith on the telephone at Nassau boulevard and had closed a contract with him to deliver a package by aeroplane from the Crescent Athletic club's lawn at its Bay Ridge grounds to the deck of the Olympic.

Auto Cranked Up.

One of the light delivery automobiles of the store equipment was cranked up, while a professional chauffeur dashed through the store and collected the articles called for by Mr. Burpee and ran with them to the automobile, which was sent whirling across the Williamsburg bridge to Bay Ridge.

The Crescent Athletic club, which had been informed what was to happen, had made arrangements for a clear lawn on which Mr. Sopwith could alight on his arrival from Nassau boulevard to take up the package. Everything was ready before the Olympic had passed old Fort William on her way out.

Just by way of precaution another automobile was dispatched in a mighty hurry to Nassau boulevard to the Aero club's hangars with a package containing a duplicate of Mr. Burpee's order. It was this package which was delivered to Mr. Burpee.

When about 250 feet above the vessel the package was dropped to the deck. Sopwith also carried a passenger in the machine with him when making the flight.

MINER SHOCKED BY LIGHTNING STROKE

Jove's Bolt Penetrates Far into the Earth's Depths.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 29.—James Coarse of Kingston, while working 1,500 feet under ground, was struck by lightning and was so badly injured that he is not expected to live. He was mining coal in his chamber of the Courtdale tunnel of the Kingston Coal company and did not know there was a storm until his chamber was filled with a blazing light and he was knocked senseless and badly burned. The stroke of lightning had followed the intake of the air current as far as Conroy's chamber.

Fortunately there was no powder or dynamite in the chamber at the time or it would probably have been exploded. This is not the first accident of this kind in this section, and Foreman Neal McHugh arranged a telephone system at the colliery so that when a lightning storm is approaching the mine workers may be summoned out of the mine and wait on the surface until the danger is over.

Will Mrs. Henkel ever be tried on the charge of administering poison to her stepdaughter, Merle Henkel? is a question which is now frequently heard on the streets of this quiet little college city.

DENIES KISSING SLIGHTED BRIDE

The Accused Millionaire Faces Charges of Gambier.

DECLARES STORIES ALL FALSEHOODS

Says He Never Caressed His Friends' "Unkissed Bride."

Wealthy Head of Fertilizer Trust Says His Interest in Prepossessing Wife of Financier Is Purely That of a Disinterested Friend—Gambier's Lawyer Puts Some Plain Questions to Witness.

New York, June 29.—Facing Charles V. Gambier, the bank cashier who alleges that the witness was the recipient of Mrs. Gambier's caresses, denied to her husband, Harvey C. Sickler, millionaire head of the Atlantic Fertilizer company, and associate of J. P. Morgan, in the fertilizer trust, today testified that he had never kissed Mrs. Gambier. He explained that he had her asked by a "business and personal friend, Mr. King, of Nashville," to look after the comfort of Mrs. Russell and her daughter, and Mrs. Gambier, and that he had done so "as far as he was able."

"I placed my automobile at their disposal and they used it," Sickler said; "but that was as far as the matter went. I can only remember being in the company of the ladies on a single automobile and dinner trip, and that was when they were members of a party numbering half a dozen. Any statement that I entertained Mrs. Gambier alone or that I embraced and kissed her while riding through Central park in an automobile is a deliberate falsehood."

Simply a Friend.

Sickler denied categorically the various episodes testified to by the private detectives in Gambier's employ. His interest in the prepossessing wife of the financier, who complains that her husband was "an old woman and never kissed her with the warmth and affection their relationship warranted," he swore, "was purely that of a disinterested friend."

Sickler, a heavy-set, athletic-appearing person of thirty-five, presented a distinct contrast to the anemic bank official. Sickler regarded the banker with a scornful air.

Before Sickler took the stand, Gambier was examined regarding his financial standing. He admitted ownership of some $59,000 in stocks and bonds, but asserted that this was the total of his fortune and that he owed at least that amount.

Although subjected to a severe cross-examination by Martin W. Littleton, Sickler stuck to his denials of escorting Mrs. Gambier to various hotels and restaurants. He flatly contradicted the story of Seth Robinson that October 30, 1910, he, Robinson, saw Mrs. Gambier and Sickler coming out of the Sickler apartments. On that date he swore he was in Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania.

THE "DIVINE HEALER" RETURNS, BUT GEMLESS

Gets No Treasure from Sunken Spanish Galleon.

Los Angeles, Calif., June 29.—Bringing instead of doubloons and rich gems, only F. Schlatter, who claims to be the original "divine healer," the treasure hunter aboard, the steamer, Eureka, who sought wealth from a sunken Spanish galleon off the Freeland islands, in the south Pacific, today anchored in San Pedro harbor.

The men in charge of the expedition were greatly peeved when asked about the stories sent out two weeks ago that they had recovered $15,000,000 in "pieces of eight."

The Eureka sailed, May 13, from Amapala for Honduras. Arriving on the 27th, the steamer was chased out of the harbor as a filibuster. Proceeding to La Union, San Salvador, the expedition met the same fate and sailed for Freeland islands. Arriving June 6, the party hunted for two days for the buried treasure and then gave up in disgust.

Homeward bound, the vessel picked up Schlatter at Salina Cruz. During the voyage the "divine healer" got into an altercation with Captain Burtis and had to do a little "divine healing" on himself.

THE COURT ORDERS A VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL

The State Fails in Its Case Against James Ross.

PLACE OF ALLEGED CRIME IS UNCERTAIN

Court Holds That State Fails To Prove That J. D. Gillespie, of This County, Is Bribed by Ross in Franklin County—Two Other Indictments Pending.

A United Press wire from Columbus Thursday tells of the failure of the prosecution in the Ross trial to make a case, as follows:

Judge Rathmell today sustained the motion of the defense that a verdict of acquittal be ordered in the trial of James Ross, prominent politician, charged with bribing J. D. Gillespie, Marion county commissioner in 1908, to influence him in purchasing supplies from the Ruggles-Gale company, of which Ross was then president.

The motion was on the ground that the state was unable to prove that the alleged crime was committed in Franklin county.

Assistant Prosecutor King then began argument before the court that it had no power to order a verdict of acquittal, since by its decision the Franklin courts had no jurisdiction, but could only dismiss the case

There are two other indictments pending against Ross in the Franklin county courts. One charges that on July 27, 1907, he bribed Gillespie with $10.05 worth of merchandise. The other charges that, on March 4, 1908, Ross bribed Gillespie with $33.82 worth of merchandise. There are three indictments against Gillespie, charging him with accepting these bribes The state's attorneys would not say whether or not they would ask that these indictments be nolled.

Assistant Prosecutor King then argued that the court had no power to order a verdict of not guilty since by its decision the Franklin county courts had no jurisdiction in the case King asked that the court dismiss the case and discharge Ross If Judge Rathmell had done this, Ross could have been reindicted, according to his attorneys, and then tried again By ordering the jury to acquit the defendant, Ross can not be tried again for offering Gillespie the $30 raincoat.

Prosecutor Turner would not state what action would be taken on the two indictments which remain against Ross

LLOYD MILLER HELD IN THE CITY PRISON

Police Believe Him Implicated in Armstrong Case.

MORE GOODS ARE REPORTED STOLEN

Goods Found at the Armstrong Home Have Disappeared Since Visit of Officers Tuesday—Rollin Thompson Supposed To Have Fled the City—Police News.

Lloyd Miller was placed under arrest, Wednesday night, and is being held at the city prison pending an investigation. Miller is believed to be implicated in the theft of some property stolen from the Erie Railroad company about two weeks ago.

J. W. Kennedy, who travels for a Chicago packing-house, reported to the police, Wednesday, that five hams, some dried beef, other meat, butter and lard had been stolen here about two weeks ago When the officers searched the home of Harry Armstrong, Tuesday afternon, they found a tub of butter, a can of lard and some boxes, one of which had contained dried beef. The officers were of the opinion that Armstrong knew something concerning the stolen property, and Wednesday afternoon Chief Klinefelter and Officer Thompson again visited his home.

Some of the butter, which was behind a door in an old shed, was missing, and all of the boxes seen at the place the day previous had disappeared The police are making an effort to locate some of the boxes, and, as it was believed that Miller assisted in causing their disappearance, he was placed under arrest Miller has been boarding at the Armstrong home for some time.

Rollin Thompson, against whom an affidavit was filed by Clara Hines charging him with using profane and obscene language, has skipped from the city to avoid arrest. Thompson who was employed at the Hube shops, probably received a tip that a warrant was issued for him, and when Officer Thompson called at the shop, Wednesday afternoon, he was informed that the man wanted had drawn his money at noon and had probably left the city.

Nettie Rinehart appeared before the mayor, Wednesday evening, and related her side of the story in a case brought against her by Agnes Miller, who swore to an affidavit for a warrant to make her keep the peace. She stated that she would secure an attorney and fight the case, and she was allowed to go, the time of the hearing not being fixed by mayor.

Patrick Burns, who was arrested Tuesday morning on complaint of several people who claimed he was guilty of indecent conduct, was released from the prison, Wednesday afternoon. The women making the complaint did not care to file an affidavit against Burns, and, after being given some advice as to how to conduct himself, Burns was given his liberty.

Mayor Seiter has not rendered his decision in the case of Clara Belle Smith, who was given a hearing before the mayor last Friday on a charge of conducting an assignation house. The affidavit for the arrest of the woman was filed by her estranged husband.

A marriage license has been issued to Miss Blanche Viola Harris and James Lowell Ulsh.

PRESIDENT IS STANDING PAT

Taft Refuses To Permit Revision of Tariff.

HE WOULD VETO RECIPROCITY BILL

Says Measure Must Be Free of Amendments.

Breach Between Democrats and Insurgents Grows Wider and Wider and End Is Not Yet—Coalition Dream Fades Away as Charges Are Made Against Certain Democrats. Bitter Struggle Anticipated.

Washington, June 26.—That President Taft is opposed to any tariff revision at this time has been made perfectly clear to leaders in the senate. The president objects not only to any amendment to the reciprocity bill lowering tariff rates, but believes that the program for passing independent bills, revising schedules, is ill advised. His attitude, which has become known since his return, will have a still further depressing influence on the efforts of Senator Wesley Jones and others looking to a plan of tariff revision in which Republican regulars and insurgents were to unite and relieve the consumer and confuse the Democrats. The plan has already met the disapproval of some Republican leaders, who point out that nothing could come of such a Republican legislative program while Democrats control the house. President Taft believes that tariff revision should wait upon the reports of the tariff board.

Will Outline Plan.

The president, it is believed, will outline a plan of tariff revision based on the board's report when congress meets in regular session in December. The next important speech he is to deliver, at Indianapolis on July 4, the president will deal with the general subject of tariff revision. It is regarded as certain that he would veto the Canadian reciprocity bill if it comes to him loaded down with amendments dealing with tariff revision, and there is little doubt also that he will decline to approve the farmers' free list bill and the other tariff measures of Democratic origin, if these pass the senate.

President Taft's friends believe that he will be the gainer politically by turning his back on tariff revision plans now and withholding his support until he has a report next winter from a board of experts.

The Canadian reciprocity bill will probably be debated with some earnestness in the present week. Senator LaFollette's amendments carrying general revision will probably be unfolded before the senators' gaze within a few days. The Democratic senate conference is likely to shed some light on the situation. While matters are still rather chaotic, the president has been advised by senate leaders that a vote on the Canadian bill will be reached earlier than expected. As to how long the tariff bills may be before the senate, there is still nothing definite.

Coalition Dream Fades Away.

The possibility of a coalition between Democrats and insurgent Republicans in the senate on a tariff revision program is more remote than ever. The insurgents are beginning to turn against their allies, the Democrats; they are charging that the Democratic leaders in the senate are working in harmony with the regular Republicans to pass Canadian reciprocity without amendment and then get away after a show of considering the other tariff bills. The insurgents say the Democrats do not want to see legislation enacted revising tariff schedules downward at this time. "They are playing politics with the question to keep it alive for their next campaign," said an insurgent senator.

The insurgents say that the tariff amendments will have to be fully debated before there is any agreement fixing a day for a vote on Canadian reciprocity.

"It will be six weeks at least before there is an agreement to vote on Canadian reciprocity, said one of the leading insurgent senators. The situation is now reversed in the senate. Some time ago the Democratic senators were declaring that the insurgents would be made to fish or cut bait on the question of relieving the consumer from the inigulities of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. The Democrats declared that they would put up to the insurgent brethren the house tariff bills and compel them to vote for or against them. Now the insurgents are coming forward with a tariff and revision program aggressively and declare that the Democrats are seeking to evade the issue. There is every indication that a bitter struggle is just ahead in the senate between the insurgents and Democrats, in which each side will try to fix upon the other the responsibility for delaying or defeating general tariff revision.

ITALIANS ATTACK CLEVELAND PRIEST

Father Haley Is Rescued from Mob by the Police.

Cleveland, June 26.—Refusing to permit a statue of John the Baptist to be taken from the church in order that it might be carried in a parade in honor of St. John's day, Father Francis Haley of Holey Rosary church, was attacked, yesterday, by a mob of 300 Italians who broke down the doors of the parish-house and endeavored to drag the priest into the street. The latter, however, succeeded in defending himself until police reserves rescued him.

Father Haley declined to allow the statue to be taken from the church because it never had been done before and he insisted he had no authority to permit it without the consent of the bishop.

Not a little of the animus of the attack against him, however, was inspired by the fact that he is an Irish priest, the Italians declaring they should have a priest of their own nationality. As the mob closed in on the parish-house, there were cries of "out with the Irishman; we want no foreign priests."

Other Italians of the district, however, backed up the priest and their defiant attitude was sufficient to keep the mob from laying hands on Haley until the police arrived.

BLACK HAND GETS VICTIM AT LAST

Clevelander Is Killed as He Leaves the Hospital.

Cleveland, June 26.—Refusing to identify the Black Hand assailants who two months ago slashed him with a knife when he refused to pay over a sum of money demanded, Antonio De Cicco left himself open to another demand which last night cost him his life. He had just left the hospital after recovering from the knife slashes, when he was again accosted and the original demand for money repeated. Cicco again refused and was at once shot down with a bullet through the brain. Police declare that had he told them in the first place the name of his assailants, his murder could have been prevented.

BALLOONISTS PERISH IN THE NORTH SEA

Empty Ballast Bags Found by the Searchers Tell the Story.

Paris, June 26.—Messages from Bremen, today, leave no doubt that the balloon that fell into the North sea, yesterday, near the island of Juist, was one of the four which sailed from here Saturday, in competition for the Deutsch cup. Searchers found one of the empty ballast bags of the ill-fated balloon with the marking, "R. G. B. 70," which identifies the craft as one of Saturday's contestants.

The crew of two of the lost vessels were undoubtedly drowned.

WOMEN BATTLE WITH MUSKRATS

Fair Canoeists Are Attacked on the Allegheny.

RODENTS LEAP INTO THE LITTLE CRAFT

Panic Ensues When Several Women Are Bitten.

Frail Boat Capsizes and Young Women, Unable To Swim, Continue To Fight in Water and Are Finally Rescued by Men Who Witness Encounter from Shore—Affair May Explain Other Mishaps.

Pittsburg, June 26.—While canoeing on the Allegheny river, seven prominent society girls camping at Oakmont had a terrible experience with a swarm of unusually large muskrats. Miss Hester Maitland was the leader of the party. She led them on a canoe paddle up the Allegheny river to Hulton.

The young women were making for the shore for luncheon when about 20 of the rats made a vicious attack on them. With their paddles the young women fought desperately for a quarter of an hour. Several of the big rodents got into the canoes occupied by Misses Rosa and Carolina Weller and Miss Maitland. Miss Carolina Weller and Miss Maitland were bitten. All the canoeists became panic-stricken and two of the canoes were capsized, throwing Martha Heck, Elizabeth Lavity and Marjorie Phillips into the river. The girls could not swim and when in the water the rats again attacked them.

Henry Miller of Ashinwall and a crowd of companions saw the young women battling in the water and rescued them with considerable difficulty.

Several prominent canoeists have been drowned in a mysterious manner near the same spot recently and it is generally believed that they met their deaths while battling wit' muskrats.

Buy Road Roller.

The county commissioners purchased a ten-ton road roller from the Huber Manufacturing company, Saturday, paying $2,300 and trading in an old five-ton horse roller in the deal. The roller is to be used in addition to the one heretofore owned by the county in repairing the various pike roads. The demand has become so heavy for an extra roller that the commissioners found it absolutely necessary to purchase an additional one and, of course, bought the best, the home product.

ENGINEER SAVES DROWNING YOUTH

THEN PLUNGES INTO THE WATER BELOW

Rescues a Pittsburg Boy Just in Time.

Hotter'n Blazes in That Blamed Cab, Anyhow, and the Duckin' Cooled Me Off, Says Begrimed-Looking Hero as He Pulls Throttle and Starts on Trip After Seeing That Lad Is All Right.

Pittsburg, June 26.—Shoving his perspiring head through the cab window to get a breath of cool air, yesterday, Fred Schilling, an engineer on the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, saw a twelve-year-old boy floundering helplessly in the Allegheny river below him.

Closing down the throttle, Schilling stopped his train on a trestle, sprang to the running board of his engine and dived into the water. The youngster by this time was making his last calls for help.

The man in the greasy overalls and jumper struck out toward midstream and finally had the lad by the hair. Schilling brought him safely ashore just as the flagman, conductor and all hands aboard came running up to see why he had stopped his train.

The boy gave his name as Carl Smith, of Woodland avenue, Northside.

"Oil and water won't mix," facetiously remarked the begrimmed rescuer, as he looked at a few drops of water trying to cling to the grease-coated garments he wore. "Hotter'n blazes in that blamed box, anyhow, and the duckin' cooled me off. Say, that kid sure was a goner, though!"

They are talking about a hero medal for Schilling.

A NEWARK MOB CAPTURES OFFICER

Policeman Has Narrow Escape from Death Under Train.

Newark, O., June 26.—Special Policeman William Glenn shot Frank Savange three times, after the latter had refused to discontinue a dance in progress at his boarding house. The trouble occurred in the foreign colony and after the shooting Glenn was beaten and kicked and then was dragged by a mob to the railroad tracks with the intention of throwing him under a train. He was rescued by spectators before a train arrived. It is said at the hospital that Savange will die.

DRUNKEN MAN SLAYS OFFICER

Anniston, Alabama, Scene of Shooting.

TWO OTHER OFFICERS SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Drink Leads to Fierce Battle in Streets.

After Shooting Down One Policeman and Sending Bullets into Chief and Another Officer, Murderer Jumps into Auto To Make Escape When an Unidentified Man Brings Him Down with Gun.

Anniston, Ala., June 26.—One policeman is dead, two others are seriously wounded and W. S. McGuffin, charged with shooting the officers, lies in a critical condition as a result of a pitched battle here Sunday afternoon.

Threats of lynching, which spread when it was learned McGuffin was not fatally injured, later caused the hurried removal of the latter from the hospital to the county jail, where he is heavily guarded tonight.

The Dead Officers.

Policeman John L. Cunningham, shot through the head

The Injured Officers.

Chief of Police Nathan Glossen shot through the hip.

Policeman James Dashwood, shot through the wrist.

Caused by Drinking.

McGuffin is said to have been drinking during the afternoon and went to a commissary, where he got into an argument with one of the proprietors, threatening his whole family with death.

A call for the police brought Chief Glossen, accompanied by the sheriff. McGuffin opened fire as soon as the officers entered the store, the second bullet triking the chief in the hip. He then leaped for the door and ran toward an automobile in which the officers had come to the scene.

By this time four other policemen had arrived, and with a number of men and boys, rushed for the fleeing man, who turned and quietly emptied his pistol into the crowd the first bullet bowling over Cunningham, killing him instantly, and the second disabling Dashwood.

Having reached the automobile, the man leaped in and was on the point of starting when an unidentified man leaped forward and fired both barrels of a shotgun into his breast. The crowd believed McGuffin had been killed and quickly dispersed.

Every man has some good habits that are never found out.

FIVE HUNDRED ENJOY TURTLE SOUP SUPPER

Feast Is Given by the Longbon Sunday-School Class.

Over 500 people were served at the Bermuda turtle soup supper given by the W. A. Longbon Sunday-school class, of the Epworth M. E. church, at the old Fribley home on east Center street from 4 to 10 p. m. Saturday.

Chef George McKinley made four big washtubs full of the best soup any one ever ate and every bit of it was cleaned up by the hungry hordes who called at the temporary soup-house. Two Bermuda turtles, one weighing 125 pounds and the other eighty pounds, were used. But the class members not only served soup at twenty-five cents a bowl, but they also served ice-cream and cake at ten cents a plate. And they sold lots of it.

THE OLD STEAMER IS TESTED LAST MONDAY

Proves That It Is Capable of Doing Good Service.

The old steam fire-engine was tested Monday at the corner of Center and Oak streets and proved itself of still doing good service. The engine was not long in pumping the 500-barrel cistern dry, while at the same time the cistern was fed from a hydrant. The old steamer furnished a pressure of ninety pounds with one line of hose, this being sufficient to throw a stream some distance higher than the Huber building. With two lines attached to the steamer, a pressure of over seventy pounds was furnished and two streams were thrown against the wind to a heighth greater than the Huber building. The same pressure was afforded with two lines siamesed into one, the volume of water in this case being much greater. But for the dirt in the cistern, which worked into the hose, better results would have been obtained. It is the intention to have the cisterns put in shape and kept full of water for use in case of a big fire.

COAL CLAIMS ARE CANCELED

The Government Acts in the Alaska Matter.

FRUSTRATE GRAB OF THE BIG INTERESTS

Value of the Lands Runs into the Billions.

So Far as Coal Deposits Are Concerned, the Morgan-Guggenheim Syndicate Loses Out in Long Waged Fight for Famous Cunningham Claims—Great Victory for the Conservationists.

Washington, June 26.—The famous Cunningham-Guggenheim coal claims in Alaska, variously estimated to be worth from $100,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 were today ordered canceled by Commissioner Fred Dennett, of the general land office, with the approval of Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

By this decision, it is declared that the allied effort of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate to "grab Alaska" is frustrated for the present, so far as the coal deposits are concerned.

These lands of fabulous value which caused the Ballinger-Pinchot feud, splitting the Taft administration into bitter factions and resulting in the dismissal by Taft of Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot, Field Agent L. R. Glavis and several others, will be restored to the public domain and later will be opened to entry.

The Pinchot adherents in the conservation fight look upon the decision as a great victory for them, as they fought Richard A. Ballinger to the end on this issue until, after Ballinger's resignation, the president named as his successor as secretary of the interior Walter L. Fisher of Chicago. Fisher is vice president of the National Conservation association, and a conservationist of the Pinchot school.

Attorneys for Clarence Cunningham and his associates announced that they would appeal the case to the courts and expect to carry it to the supreme court of the United States.

The Decision.

In the decision, the government finds:

"That the several locations, filings and entries were made pursuant to an understanding and agreement entered into by all the claimants prior to location, to combine several claims for the joint use and benefit of all claimants;

"That each location, filing and entry was made with the unlawful purpose and intent that the title acquired thereunder should inure to the use and benefit of an association or a corporation formed or to be formed by the several claimants;

"That no mine of coal was opened or improved on any of the said tracts located and entered."

It is found that the claims of Charles Sweeney and W. W. Ryan, members of the Cunningham group, were defective so that they could not have been invalidated regardless of the decision affecting the group generally.

It was shown that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate had a conditional option to finance, and take over the development of the lands through a $5,000,000 corporation. The corporation was not ratified by a majority of the claimants, but the Guggenheims contended that it was binding and were prepared to sue to enforce it if the claims were patented.

Secretary Fisher announced today, that all other Alaskan coal claims will be pushed to conclusion and that congress will be asked at the next session to enact new laws affecting the Alaska lands.

Issued the following statement:

Fisher's Statement.

"This is a final decision as to the Cunningham claims so far as the department of the interior is concerned. It is my understanding and is conceded that the finding of the facts by the department is conclusive.

"It is the intention of the department to proceed at once to the determination of all the remaining Alaskan coal claims so far as can properly be done.

"I do not believe the proposition applicable to coal lands in Alaska is wise or practicable. Nevertheless their provisions must be observed first, because they are the law; second, because they afford the best protection to the public against the abuses of monopoly and unrestricted private exploitation.

"If there are claims now pending which, under the existing law are entitled to patent, I see no justification for not taking action upon them promptly as the department is assured that it is in possession of the facts upon which such action will ultimately be taken."

The lands involved in the Cunningham coal claims" are in thirty-three entries, each a quarter less than half a mile square, containing slightly less than 160 acres each, or an aggregate area of 5,23[illegible]. The claims lie in the Juneau coal fields and form a part of the Kush[illegible] fields. The center of the group is about twenty-four miles northeast of Katalla. The Chugach National Forest, established February 2[illegible], includes about two-thirds of the claims.

SAYS FIGHT IS NOT YET ENDED

Pinchot Discusses Cancellation of Coal Claims.

DECLARES PEOPLE SAVE MILLIONS

Combine Has Another Chance to "Come Back."

Former Forester Shows How Opening of Waterfront of Controller Bay May Result in Big Interests Acquiring Control of Coal Through Transportation—Says His Policy Is Vindicated.

New York, June 27.—When he learned of the decision in the Alaska coal land case, Gifford Pinchot gave out the following statement:

"The cancellation of the Cunningham claims is proof, given by the administration itself, that the fight made against it to prevent coal monopoly in Alaska was not only successful, but necessary and right. This victory insures the cancellation of multitudes of other fraudulent claims in Alaska I have not yet seen the text of the decision. It should result in saving the most valuable coal fields still in government ownership for the use of the people. If the fight had not been made the Cunningham claims would have been patented so long ago, and by this time coal monopoly in Alaska would have been an assured fact. The vigorous attempts made during the investigation by counsel for the interior department to show that the claims were valid leave little doubt that they would have been patented had the administration been allowed to proceed

Combine Has Another Chance.

"Our fight is not yet fully won. It is still possible that a secret order of last October, by which President Taft opened the harbor front of Controller bay the natural outlet for the coal to acquisition by special interests, may result in coal monopoly through monopoly of transportation.

"Now that the claims are canceled, the one imperative need for Alaska is an honest coal land law, opening the coal to immediate development under lease from the government. The passage of such a law was prevented at the last session of congress by the failure of the public lands committees of the house and senate to report bills honestly in the public interest. I see no reason why the passage of a coal-leasing law should await the next session of congress. It ought to be passed at once."

Alaskan Land Grants Canceled.

Washington, June 27.—The famous Cunningham-Guggenheim coal claims, in Alaska, variously estimated to be worth from one hundred million to one billion dollars, were ordered canceled by Commissioner Fred Dennett of the general land office, with the approval of Secretary of the Interior Fisher These lands of fabulous value, which caused the Ballinger-Pinchot feud, splitting the Taft administration into bitter factions and resulting in the dismissal by Taft of Chief Forester Pinchot, Field Agent L. DECLARES MAINE'S SECRET IS BURIED

Bixby Says Cause of Explosion May Never Be Known.

Tampa, Fla, June 27.—"The secret of the destruction of the battleship Maine will never be known," said General W H. Bixby, chief of engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine, on his arrival here from Havana The destruction to the vessel was such, says General Bixby, and the deterioration has been so great, that it will be impossible to tell whether the ship was blown up from a force within or without. The greatest force, however, was from the inside indicating that the forward magazine had exploded. Whether this was from a sympathetic explosion, caused by a torpedo from the outside, may forever remain a mystery

We do not expect to find any human remains," General Bixby said. "The crew's compartments have disappeared entirely."

Four Italians Dying as Result of West Virginia Trouble.

Waverly, W Va., June 27.—Four Italians are dying and four Americans are in a serious condition following a race riot between Americans and Italians at a point between Weaver and Junior, West Virginia.

One of the Americans, H. T Shue was badly cut and slashed in a quarrel with an Italian, and this started afresh the race war which has been going on intermittently for several days. The sheriff's posse, comprising ninety men, went to the scene from Elkins, West Virginia, and will stay until the trouble is ended It was feared today that the trouble might spread, as both factions are in an ugly mood. The sheriff, today, has the situation well in hand

SUN BATHERS STIR EVANSTON SOCIETY

Police Interfere with Open-Air Cure Near Chicago.

Chicago, June 27.—The "Kosmos club" is "in Dutch" with the residents of ultra-fashionable Evanston and the police have been called upon to make it take up its abode in less public places.

The "Kosmos" is an "open-air cure" sanatorium, whose patients sun themselves for hours daily, clad in the negative habiliments of Venus and Adonis.

"It's simply terrible," gasped residenters of Evanston, who thereupon boosted a reporter upon a neighboring fence so that he might gaze. Unlike Lot's wife, he did not turn to salt, but he did see numerous females, tanned of skin, swinging drowsily in hammocks, lazily wielding fly swatters. Upon a signal from the sanatorium, the sun bathers covered themselves with the fringe of the hammocks and later emerged in bath robes

The police, to make a test case, arrested Joseph Villas, attired him in a bath robe, and held him for vagrancy. The women were not molested. They are separated from the men by a high fence, heavily padded.

DECLARES HIS WIFE SHOWS NO AFFECTION

But She Lavishes Kisses on Another, Says Banker.

New York, June 27.—When Edward V. Gambier, cashier and a director of the Merchants' Exchange National bank, resumed the witness stand, today, in the trial of the suit of his wife for a separation and his cross bill for an annulment of the marriage, he completed his story of the happenings following his wedding. Under cross-examination he insisted that at no time following their wedding did his wife show any affection for him. He complained to her father, who told him Mrs. Gambier was suffering from nervous prostration. Gambier said in Philadelphia on their honeymoon his wife complained that she "felt like hell."

The bringing into the case of the name of Harvey C. Sickler, president of the Atlantic Fertilizer & Oil company, added interest to the trial. He is the man on whom Gambier alleges his wife lavished kisses. Heretofore Sickler has been referred to as "Mr. Blank," but his chauffeur, while on the stand, inadvertently blurted out the name.

Mrs. Butler said that while she and her motrer, Mrs. Stetson, were away from their flat in the Copenhagen apartments, her baby and its nurse, Miss Anna Boetcher, vanished from the place. Her husband, she thought, had left the city over the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mrs. Sarah Butler, mother of the man who was enjoined, stopped at the Colonial hotel Monday night. The younger Mrs. Butler declared her belief that the child was there, but no trace of it was found.

In her petition, Mrs. Butler alleged that her husband had neglected and ill-treated the child and herself, and that in "collusion with other persons" he had carried William Alfred Hayt Butler, their baby, away from its home, Monday night. The child, she said, was in ill health.

SUGAR PROBERS QUIZ PROPHET

Joseph Smith Talks Plainly to to Committee.

THE MORMON DRAWS AUDIENCE OF WOMEN

He Tells How His Church Enters Business.

Smith, Benign of Face, Mild of Voice, but Fierce of Beard, Describes How He, Personally, and Church Hold 51,815 Shares of Stock of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company—His Testimony.

Washington, June 27 —Benign of face, mild of voice, but fierce of beard, Prophet Joseph F Smith, head of the Mormon church, holder of several thousand shares of stock in the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, appeared before the Hardwick sugar trust committee today

The prophet, accompanied by Bishop Nibly, came from Utah at the instance of the committee, starting before a subpoena was served on him but after first asserting he did not intend to come unless compelled Prophet Smith is the first witness in the sugar investigation to draw an audience of women. Before testifying, Smith asserted he knew nothing about the sugar trust or the sugar business.

Smith testified that he was president of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company and held about 5,000 shares of stock in that company individually, and 19,815 shares for the Mormon church He said he personally owned seventy shares in the Amalgamated Sugar company.

The Church's Interest.

"Does the Utah-Idaho company pay dividends?" Hardwick asked.

"Yes, seven per cent," said the prophet

"What becomes of those dividends?"

They are used for the interests of the church."

Hardwick asked about the joining of the Utah Sugar company with H O. Havemeyer in the formation of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company

"You didn't consider this combination with Havemeyer in the formation of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company.

"The sugar company's attorney was consulted."

"Is it the policy of the Mormon church to make business investments?"

"No, only to help industries started by the members of our church."

Smith said the Mormon church had no board of business control, but the Havemeyer deal was considered and approved by himself, the presiding bishop, and their counsellors, fifteen in all.

"Was this transaction with Havemeyer presented to the church?"

"It wasn't thought necessary, but all the church officials acquiesced."

SAYS SYNDICATE SIMPLY LAUGHS

Poindexter Discusses Canceled Coal Claims.

SENATOR WOULD CURB INTERESTS

And He Introduces Sensational Resolution.

Poindexter Calls Upon President Taft To Produce All Records Bearing on Controller Bay Filing of James J. Ryan and Others—Wants To Keep Guggenheims from Grabbing Only Feasible Outlet.

Washington, June 27.—That the Guggenheim syndicate in Alaska can afford to laugh over the loss of the Cunningham coal claims by decision of the land office yesterday, provided it is able to engineer through an application now pending before the department for harbor privileges around Controller bay, Alaska, was the charge which today impelled Senator Miles Poindexter, Republican, of Washington, to introduce a sensational resolution in the senate.

The resolution demands that President Taft produce all records bearing on the Controller bay filing by James J. Ryan and others connected with the Controller Railroad & Navigation company. Poindexter is convinced that if this claim goes through, the Guggenheims will control the only feasible outlet for the coal and have all the railroads in their grasp.

"It now seems evident that the 'interests' which were seeking to monopolize the natural resources of Alaska were not dependent entirely upon one method," said Poindexter, today. "Control of transportation and access to these coal fields is equivalent to control of the coal itself. The harbor of Controller bay is the only available deep water within reasonable access of the coal fields.

Rights Discussed.

"Realizing this fact, the administration, February 26, 1909, withdrew that portion of the shore line of Controller bay which was essential for its use as a harbor. However, October 28, 1910, without notice, this shore line was restored to public entry and by presidential order. Immediately thereafter, and before the public was advised of this fact, James J. Ryan and others, who are connected with the Controller railroad, made application to enter certain portions of the shore, which, with the rights incident thereto, will give them a complete monopoly of the use of the bay and of the sole available outlet from the coal fields.

"The rights so far have not yet matured and in order that the fraudulent monopoly, which was defeated by the decision of the secretary of the interior in the Cunningham coal cases, should not be acquired by means of the monopoly of Controller bay and in order that the benefit of this very excellent act of the present administration should not be entirely lost, the status of these applications and all of the transactions leading up to them should be made public."

Progressives in the senate assert that the law which provides that not more than 320 acres of such land shall be held in a common ownership was deliberately violated by the entrymen and countenanced by the department of the interior.

Poindexter's resolution calls for all information from the departments of the interior, war and agriculture, and from the president.

A HEAVY RAINFALL LOWERS TEMPERATURE

Thirteen-Sixteenth of an Inch of Rain Falls Tuesday.

So far as the temperature was concerned, Tuesday morning came as near the ideal summer as could be desired The highest point reached by the thermometer during the morning was eighty-four, the mercury ascending to that point shortly before the rain and then receding when Jupiter Pluvius was about to open his welcome supply of water.

The rainfall, considering the short time that the downpour held sway, was the heaviest that has been had for some time, measuring thirteen-sixteenths of an inch

THE MILK BOTTLE THIEVES ARE ACTIVE

Work the Southern Part of the City Monday Night.

Milk bottle money thieves are again operating in the southern part of the city. Prospect street was one of the streets which the thieves worked Monday night, stealing considerable change. One of the worst features of this petty thieving is that when the housewife does put out money and it is stolen, the milk man does not leave any milk. The result is that she is compelled to scurry around and get a supply of milk from some other source.

In the utility, and auto coats both peasant and raglan sleeves are seen, particularly the former.
